About Us

Here at Life After Freedom we believe in cultivating new connections with Businesses and Formerly Incarcerated People. There is a negative stigma over Formerly Incarcerated People that hinders their growth, as well as the growth of our society. By partnering with businesses we are able to improve society as a whole and help erase the negative stigmas over Formerly Incarcerated People. We believe that by helping Formerly Incarcerated People find jobs they can live a better life and help contribute to the advancement of companies and our society!

OUR STRENGTH

Our Mission

At Life After Freedom we want to bridge the gap between formerly incarcerated people and job employment. We aim to show companies how they can improve their company and improve society as whole just by changing someone's life with a job. Our end goal is to cultivate bonds between companies and formerly incarcerated people that help both parties.

What We Do

Life After Freedom provides a free job search and matching application for formerly incarcerated people. We help businesses improve their company and society by helping them understand the benefits of hiring formerly incarcerated people.
